

Democratic Leaders Are Sore Over President's Delay of Adjournment

WASHINGTON—The President's quiet but emphatic refusal to cut short Congress was a bitter blow to Democratic Congressional leaders. He wanted to wind up but some of them wanted it even more.

They were all set to ring down the curtain June 9.

This would have enabled them to dodge votes on the Wagner Labor Board Bill, oil control, and the housing program—all under heavy fire from business interests.

Some of the Administration floor leaders are privately opposed to these measures; but, if forced to a showdown, won't dare vote against them.

That showdown is now here.

Bad at Figures

Young men intending to become members of future Cabinets should be careful about their scholastic records. Their pasts will catch up with them.

Back in 1908, one of the members of Roosevelt's Cabinet was a youngster at Phillips-Exeter Academy and in danger of flunking math. Finally his father, a wealthy New Yorker, later to be an ambassador under Woodrow Wilson, came up to Exeter and argued with "Billy" Francis, professor of Mathematics.

Professor Francis found the father most delightful, but that didn't help his son. The latter, he said, was diligent, but dumb.

Finally the youngster passed, "though not because of any special influence," said Professor Francis. And one of the Merry-Go-Rounders, having had trigonometry pounded into him by the Professor, can vouch for his impartiality.

"He just squeaked through," said Francis, "but he got by on his own."

The youngster was Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury and the man who last week floated $800,000,000 of government bonds.

Naval Secretary Roosevelt

There is no truer axiom than that Franklin Roosevelt—no matter what happens—will be his own Secretary of the Navy. How true this is was illustrated last week.

Usually it is customary for the State Department to prepare for all naval negotiations with foreign countries. The Secretary of the Navy, assisted by his experts comes up to the State Department and sits in.

But when naval experts prepared to leave for London last week to discuss with the British and Japanese plans for the next naval conference, they went direct to the White House. After a talk with the President, they went back to the Navy Department.

The gaunt mountaineer from Tennessee, Secretary of State Hull, was not called in. Nor was the mustachioed Secretary of the Navy, Claude Augustus Swanson. In fact, the latter did not appear to know what had taken place.

Asked about the instructions Roosevelt had given the naval experts, he looked congenially blank.

"How do we stand on global tonnage, Mr. Secretary?" he was asked.

"We're for it."

"Then how can we maintain our naval ratios?"

The reply, accompanied by banging on the desk, was:

"The present naval ratios must be maintained!"

At Last

For months New York's mild-mannered but tenacious Senator Bob Wagner has pushed, maneuvered, struggled to get action on his bills for a Labor Board and for old-age pensions. Probably no Senator has worked harder, with less success.

The other day the Senate passed a number of minor measures. One of these was a bill, sponsored by Wagner, reducing the standard of measure for mounds from a three to a one pound basket.

POVENMIRE TO TAKE POSITION AT MANSFIELD

Popular High School Instructor's Resignation Presented to Board

"IN BIGGER FIELD"

Better Chance to Develop Dramatics Cited

Announcement was made Wednesday that E. Kingsley Povenmire, high school instructor during the past year, has resigned to accept a position in the Mansfield high school.

The board of education accepted Mr. Povenmire's resignation at its meeting Tuesday evening at the same time expressing regret that the popular instructor was leaving, but wishing him success in his new position.

Mr. Povenmire said Wednesday that salary had nothing to do with his decision to accept the Mansfield position. "In the Mansfield school," he declared, "there is an opportunity for a future in the teaching of dramatics and public speaking. The school, a million dollar building completed in 1927, has a fully-equipped theater used for nothing but school plays."

The Mansfield high school has 1,200 pupils.

TEACH DRAMATICS

At the outset of the school year Mr. Povenmire will teach dramatics, and public speaking with one class in English. At the beginning of the second semester the teacher expects dramatics and public speaking to be on a full time schedule.

"I greatly regret leaving Circleville," Mr. Povenmire said. "My connections here have been splendid ones and I have benefitted greatly by my year in this city."

During this year here, which was abbreviated because of an emergency operation, Mr. Povenmire made a splendid record. He conducted some of the most successful plays presented here in years.

His original story, "Buttered Side Down," was presented as the senior class play. Mr. Povenmire has not confined his talent to the class room, however, appearing several times before organizations and the public in readings. His rendition of "The Green Pastures" gained him a wide reputation as a reader and actor.

The board of education will have a difficult time obtaining a dramatics instructor as well qualified as Mr. Povenmire.

THREE VACANCIES

His resignation leaves three vacancies in the city's public school system. All other positions are filled in the high school but the grade assignments of Mrs. Avery Eichinger (Mildred Barthelmas) and Mrs. Peter Bernard (Grace Steele) remain unfilled.

2 NEW DILLINGER REPORTS SCOUTED

Radio Reports Gunman Seen Near Cincinnati; Thought In Car in Minnesota.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—Two John Dillinger alarms broadcast in widely separated areas during the night proved false today leaving police still without a clue as to the whereabouts of the notorious gangster.

An alarm that Dillinger might have been in an Illinois car seen speeding through Cincinnati toward Springfield was broadcast by the state police radio system and almost at the same time a broadcast said the phantom gunman was seen near Red Wing, Minn.

State troopers here reported they had been unable to find any trace of the mysterious Illinois car. The automobile causing the alarm to be broadcast in Minnesota was stopped but it contained only a man who slightly resembled Dillinger.

LYNCHING HALTED

Son of Slain Woman Urged Angered Mob to "Let Law Take Its Course."

SUSANVILLE, Cal., June 13.—Lynch threats of an infuriated mob were dispelled today when the 22-year-old son of Mrs. Lena Ammisen, 42, one of the five victims of the mass murders in this lumber camp town, pleaded with mob leaders to "let the law take its course against Pietro Aloisi."

Aloisi, 43, mill worker, confessed to the murders. Fearing that the confession would incite the mob, District Attorney Grover Julian withheld announcement of it until young Peter Ammisen pacified the crowd of friends and Italian countrymen of the Ammisenis and Joseph Fazio, 45, Grover, who was stabbed and hacked to death with his wife, daughter, and Mrs. Ammisen, a neighbor.

Standing at the door of the county jail, young Ammisen pleaded:

"Do not lynch him. The law will take its course."

After several minutes the mob dispersed, grumbling to itself.

MOTHER OF 5 SERIOUSLY ILL IN CABIN HOME

Dr. Dafoe Summoned Hurdled By Nurses; Babies Gain Strength.

CALLANDER, Ont., June 13.—Mrs. Elzira Dionne, 25-year old mother of the 16-day old quintuplet daughters, was reported in a critical condition this morning.

Olivia Dionne, the stricken woman's husband, made a hurried trip to Dr. A. R. Dafoe's home to summon the physician to the desolate log cabin home. At the Dionne home, the nurses refused to discuss the condition of the young mother, but Olivier Dionne, the 68-year-old grandfather, said:

HAS BAD FEVER

"The mother is sick. She has a bad fever and we are worried about her. She is very bad."

Dr. Dafoe was at the railroad station procuring milk for the babies when Dionne called at his home, but the physician was hurriedly notified of the mother's illness. He said he would issue a statement after examining Mrs. Dionne.

A distinguished visitor at the Dionne farm last night was Dr. John M. Robb, cabinet minister of health. Accompanied by Dr. Dafoe, the cabinet minister viewed the infant quintuplets and said he was highly pleased with their condition.

The infants are steadily gaining weight.

All of the babies have discovered that lusty exhibitions of lung power bring immediate attention and food. At their 10 o'clock feeding last night the "Dionne chorus" was particularly loud.

The infants were fed more during the past 24 hours than at any similar period since they were born. Each was given nine ounces of the warmed mother's milk sent from Toronto.

City Officials and Police Confab, Feed; Talk Shop

Safety Director L. T. Shaner played host to the mayor, service director and members of the city police department at a fish fry in the city building Tuesday evening.

The "social session" was designed to bring the forces of Mayor W. B. Cady's administration together to talk over plans of efficiency and better protection for the citizens of Circleville.

Proceeding the round-table discussion, Officer William McCrady and James Shaw, custodian of the city building, prepared 15 pounds of choice cat-fish in the basement of the building and served it with new baked potatoes, bread and butter and iced tea to the following: Mayor Cady, Service Director William Justice, Chief of Police W. H. Warner, Patrolmen Fred Fitzpatrick, Alva Shastner, Carl Radcliff, Raymond Smith, and Thomas McManamy, desk officer, and the host, Mr. Shaner.

Among the suggestions offered at the informal discussion period was that steps be taken to eliminate the congestion on the city's streets on Saturday night. The congestion arises, it was said, because of the tendency of many folks to congregate in the middle of the sidewalks, making it impossible for shoppers to pass through.

Mayor Cady and several others later witnessed a demonstration of a new type of traffic light. The light, designed by a Cincinnati firm, was placed at Court and High-sts for a test and it was learned that only one out of 16 motorists headed its warning.

The light four inches above the ground. It can be seen more than 1,000 feet away.

The indictments were returned yesterday afternoon by a special grand jury. The cases will go before the jury here within the coming months, it was announced.

Huntley was beaten to death Monday evening, June 4, at his home in Milton township. Theft of $23 was established by authorities as the motive.

LICENSE PER DAY IN PROBATE COURT

A license a day. That's how the marriage license record in probate court stands for the month of brides at present.

Thirteen license have been issued since June 1, according to Miss Alma Glick, smiling clerk, who issues the permits to wed.

As many as four in a day have been issued thus far, although the average is one a day. Miss Glick thinks this is a good average, considering the times.

The vice consul was located at the ancient tombs of the Ming dynasty in Nanking, alive and apparently in good health, reports relayed to Shanghai stated.

The anxiously sought for official was rushed to the consulate and no statement was forthcoming.

Kuramoto was suffering from four days exposure and seemed mentally distracted but his condition was not considered serious.

FOURTH JOINS COUNTY RACE FOR ASSEMBLY

A. H. Crownover, of Monroe-Twp., Obtains Petitions; Others File.

A fourth potential Democratic candidate for the nomination for representative in the general assembly was in the race today. He is A. H. Crownover, of Monroe-twp, home township of Nathan Behnert, retiring incumbent.

Mr. Crownover, a well known farmer and hog-raiser, obtained his petition from the board of elections Wednesday morning and immediately placed it in circulation in order to have it filed prior to the deadline Friday at 6:30 p. m.

He is the second Democrat avowedly in the race, Clark Hunsicker having already announced and filed. H. M. Crites and N. E. Reichelderfer, both of this city, have petitions for the representative's race but have not filed them.

Marion Sensenbrenner, unopposed so far for the Republican nomination, has filed his petition with the election board.

Ray W. Davis, unopposed either within his own Republican party or by a Democrat, has filed his petition for a second term as prosecuting attorney.

Leonard Schlech, Deerecreek-twp, has also filed his petition for county recorder on the Democratic ticket. Other Democratic candidates for recorder who have definitely filed are Luther Bower and Mrs. Elizabeth Kline Davison.

JURY INDICTS TWO SLAYERS

Theft of $23 From Aged Jackson-Co Man Leads To Murder Charges.

JACKSON, June 13.—Herbert Thacker and Ray Freeman, who officials announced have confessed the killing of Stephen Huntley, aged farmer, today were under indictment, each on three counts, on murder charges.

The indictments were returned yesterday afternoon by a special grand jury. The cases will go before the jury here within the coming months, it was announced.

Huntley was beaten to death Monday evening, June 4, at his home in Milton township. Theft of $23 was established by authorities as the motive.

The couple married January 30, 1928 and had no children.

The plaintiff charged her husband with wilful absence.

Carl Leist was her attorney.

CAPITAL EXCITED

As the deadline for filing declaration of candidates—6:30 p. m., Friday—drew nearer, the capital was still in a high pitch of excitement over developments in the Democratic senatorial situation.

Gov. George White stood pat on his declaration that he "will be nominated and elected" despite reports from Washington that President Roosevelt, fearing White could not defeat Republican Sen. Simeon D. Fess in the November election, if Fess is nominated as now appears, would welcome the governor's retirement from the primary contest.

Observers kept close check at the secretary of state's office to see whether Congressman Charles West, Granville Democrat, mentioned as the candidate the Roosevelt administration would like to see the Democrats nominate for the Senate, will enter the race.

They also eagerly awaited some word from Congressman-at-large Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, who is circulating petitions both as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator and for re-nomination as congressman.

Truax, it was learned, may run into difficulties when he does decide which office he intends to seek. The report has reached the secretary of state's office that the congressman has sent out many petitions to be signed without indicating, as required by law, which office he wants.

PICKREL FILES

Thus far the nominating petitions of William G. Pickrel, Dayton, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, have contained the most signatures—30,000 from 88 counties. He filed them late yesterday.

Frank G. Harrison, Massillon Republican, filed 3,250 signatures from 51 counties to have his name placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for governor.

F. D. R.'s Choice?

Charles West.

West, Granville representative in the national Congress, is reported favored by President Roosevelt for the U. S. Senate post in Ohio. Quite a controversy has been stirred up over the report that Roosevelt has asked Gov. George White to remain out of the race. White flatly denies the allegation.

Congressman Charles West, of Granville, reported favored by President Roosevelt for the U. S. Senate, has made no definite step toward the race.

John M. Vorys, Columbus attorney, enters contest for G. O. P. nomination for Senate against Fess and Wansmaker. Vorys is backed by David Ingalls and Robert Taft.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—While Charles Sawyer tossed his hat formally into the ring by filing his petition with 25,000 to 30,000 names for the Democratic nomination for governor, the political situation in Ohio today awaited only an announcement from Congressman Charles West to clarify itself.

West, professor of political economy at Denison University, almost overnight, become the "key man" in the mad scramble for public office.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—Former U. S. Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, convinced that his entry into an already crowded field of Republican candidates for governor, "would but add to the confusion of the voter," today stepped out of the primary picture.

"Many local Republican friends doubtless will be disappointed by my decision," said McCulloch, "but the party is more important than any individual."

Without saying which candidate would receive his support in the primary, the former senator pledged himself to "reserve my strength to help win the Republican victory in November that is essential to the welfare of the state and nation."

A new face entered the Republican senatorial picture when Attorney John Vorys, Columbus, Ohio's first director of aeronautics, sent out petitions yesterday as a candidate following a conference with Davis S. Ingalls, G. O. P. candidate for governor in 1932 against White, and former State Senator Robert Taft.

Eshelman Outfit Halts Oil Rally to Win 8 to 7

Eddie Callahan put on the brakes at just the right time Tuesday evening to win a hard-fought 8-7 game for his Eshelman Feeds from the Circleville Oils.

The Oils had the tying and winning runs on second and first bases in the final inning with only one out, but a pop in front of the plate and a nice catch by Stookie Valentine of a foul fly ended the ball game.

The contest was a hectic one from start to finish with the Feeds grabbing a two run lead after two were out in the first frame. The Oils tied it in the second but went behind by one run in the third. Two Oil runs made it 4-3 in the fourth but the Feeds came back with three more to lead 6-4. The Oils scored once in the seventh but the Eshelmans scored twice.

RALLY NIPPED

The Oils started the ninth inning like they meant business when Howard White beat out an infield hit. Art Steele ticketed one but it went straight at an infielder. White was almost doubled. Purcell and Barnes singled and Geb walked before Merriman and D. White popped to end the game.

If the ball game was paid off on hits the Oils held a big margin. They touched Callahan for 14 safe singles four of which were doubles and one a home run by Don White. Carl Purcell gave the Feeds men six hits only one of which was for an extra base.

The Feeds outplayed the Oils in the field to gain their advantage, six errors being scored by the Oil inner defense while only one was counted for the Feeds.

Don White, Howard White and Dick Robinson led the hitters of both teams. D. White getting a home run, double and single besides a base on balls. H. White a double and two singles. Robinson hit two doubles. Hecker, recently of the Oils, and Dewey each had two hits for the winners.

Jim Dade and John Rooney were the umpires.

Browning, London in Title Mix

Jim Browning

Jim London

Heavyweight Wrestling Champion Jim Browning will match his airplane scissors hold against ex-Heavyweight Champion Jim London's equally formidable airplane spin when the pair meet June 25 in a finish grapple for the world title. The match, booked for Long Island City bowl (New York), is sponsored by the New York Babies' Milk Fund charity.

WIN 45 TILTS? CARD HURLERS MAY DO TRICK

Jerome and Paul Dean on Way To Carry Out Boast; Paul Gets Seventh in Row.

NEW YORK, June 13.—A booster naturally puts himself forever on the spot. Braggarts who can make good on their boasts are few and far between in any line but more especially in sports. Probably no athletes ever put themselves on the spot as have the Deans, the famous Me and I brothers of the St. Louis Cardinals.

When the season opened these bashful boys calmly predicted they would win 45 games between them this year. That boast immediately stirred up every team in the league. Every pitcher determined to bear down particularly hard whenever he faced one of the Deans.

NEED 90 GAMES

Forty-five between them eh? Why, twice that many would win the flag for the Cards. Where did that dizzy pair get off to think they could show up the rest of the league?

Well, as Al Smith used to say, let's take a look at the record. The Cardinals have won 30 games and of this number the dizzy Deans have accounted for exactly half between them.

Paul, the younger and less talkative of the pair, won his seventh straight yesterday when he took the Braves over, 7 to 3, aided and abetted no little by home runs from the clubs of Jim Collins and Pepper Martin. Paul is still undefeated.

The Cardinals have lost 18 games but only two of these are charged against the name Dean. Jerome lost those but he has won eight.

If the brothers Dean maintain their present pace, they will win more than the 45 games they promised to win.

Liquor Imports Drop

WASHINGTON—A notable decline in United States import trade in wines and liquors occurred in April. The total value of wines and liquors imported for consumption during April was $2,918,848 compared with $4,953,597 in March, $4,765,477 in February and $5,015,862 in January.

Once upon a time a bank's statement showed a man that he had more money than his check stubs indicated. But it did him no good. The shock killed him.

NAVY SECRETS ARE FOUND IN VICTIM'S BAG

U. S. Probing Existence of Formulae Found After Seven Die in Plane.

LIBERTY, N. Y., June 13.—Federal authorities injected themselves into the seven-fold tragedy atop Dunmead mountain today, which probably will cause postponement of the inquest of the plane crash.

The federal men appeared on the scene shortly after it was discovered that William B. Bader of Buffalo, a chemist for the Summit Solvay company of New York, had naval papers containing secret formulae of the government in his possession. Bader was one of the four passengers and a crew of three who were killed when the American air liner crashed into the summit of Dunmead mountain Saturday night during a dense fog.

DOUBT BLAST THEORY

Three vials containing a powder which Dr. Victor G. Bourke, coroner of Sullivan Co., believes may be explosives, also were found in Bader's luggage. Although it is strongly denied by American Air line officials and aviation experts, Bourke has advanced the theory that an explosive Bader was carrying may have blown the ship apart and that it was not wrecked by a crash into the mountainside.

Developments of the last few hours may cause postponement of the inquest. Bourke announced this morning, "I am going into conference with District Attorney William Deckelman and federal agents immediately. I may have an important announcement after this conference."

The papers found at the scene of the tragedy may be of tremendous importance. I have sent them to a local vault. I have also ordered a detail of state police under command of Sergeant Thomas Mangano to guard the scene of the tragedy so that no minute piece of evidence may be removed and also to search the mountainside for a portfolio which is missing and which I am sure Bader carried aboard the plane.

Ashville Making Plans For Great Celebration

ASHVILLE, June 13.—A late start by the Community Club in arranging for the Independence day celebration is being overcome by the activities of the different committees, as evidenced by the progress reported at the meeting last Friday night.

The lunch committee contracted with Ed Durtha, of Columbus, to furnish and fry 800 pounds of fresh fish if needed for the day's feast.

Clyde Brinker for the concessions committee, of which A. B. Cooper is also a member, reported that Montana Meechy and his troupe of nine cowboy musicians was open for engagement and suggested he could be used to furnish music for the dance during the afternoon and night. Also he agreed to broadcast Ashville's Fourth over WAU during the month—in fact, he has already started to accept his terms. Meechy is no stranger to Ashville crowds having been here several years ago, and while this free attraction will cost a considerable sum it should prove a drawing card.

HOYLE OBTAINED

Among the other free acts Mr. Brinker reported closing a contract with Mr. Hoyle, of Columbus, for a high dive from an 80 foot ladder into a net. He will bring with him four young ladies, who are acrobats and high wire artists.

We also have the promise of several rides, merry-go-rounds, the delight of the youngsters as well as grownups.

An advertising campaign greater than ever before attempted is being planned. Montana Meechy on the air from WAU station is daily broadcasting the event; posters, handbills and stickers are being printed, and best of all we have the assurance of Fred J. Hines, director of the band, with his organization in company with members of the Community club will tour the county and carry the message of a good time at Ashville July 4 with good music and speeches by local boosters.

We promise a full day and part night program of entertainment, beginning with a bigger and better street parade, featuring many clean attractions with plenty of music during the day by the local band and Meechy's cowboys and ending with a spectacular pyrotechnic display at night.

In the past five years we have never had an accident at these exercises which have been attended by thousands. Ample police force will carefully look after your safety while our guests.

Girl Scout News

The Logan Elm Girl Scout troop No. 1 met for its regular meeting Monday at the home of its acting captain for the summer, Miss Hazel Wolford, Pickaway-twp.

A covered dish supper was enjoyed in the woods. After roaming through the woods, passing tests and also having an Indian war dance, we went to the house where we adjourned.

SEWING CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of the Buckeye sewing club was held June 5 at the Muhlenberg school.

The meeting opened with group singing of "America" followed by roll call. The following officers were elected:

Mary Reid, president; Evelyn Hill, secretary and treasurer; Mary Hinton, vice president; Martha Jane Hott, recreation leader; Glendal Dick, news reporter.

Work was started and refreshments were served by the leader. Misses Mary and Bernice Hinton were appointed on the refreshment committee for the next meeting to be held June 19.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO MEET THURSDAY

The Royal Neighbors of America will meet in the Modern Woodman hall for their regular session Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Following initiation a covered-dish supper will be served for members having birthdays in May and June.

You can't tell Willie, but when Dad was a little boy he didn't enjoy Sunday School as well as a circus.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't take a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Milk Hold Up

The investigation of milk—probably one of the most important Congress has ever contemplated—has been delayed for weeks by the idiosyncrasy of Senator Smith of South Carolina.

Reason: The Senate Resolution ordering the milk investigation has been before Smith's Agricultural Committee, and Smith would not call a meeting of his committee for fear he would be outvoted on the move to promote Professor Rex Tugwell to be Under-Secretary of Agriculture. Now that the Tugwell matter has been taken from the committee by the Senate, there is a chance the milk investigation will come up in committee.

Thanks to the leadership of hard-hitting Representative Sisson, the House had passed the resolution and appropriated $60,000 for the expense of the investigation.

Opposed to the resolution were representatives of the dairymen—Roy Pike of the milk cooperatives and Fred H. Sexauer of the Dairyman's League. At first thought this seems strange, but the milk cooperatives are hooked up with the distributor not the milk producer.

It is the distribution of milk that the investigation intends to hit. Congressman Sisson, who comes from New York State's dairying regions, claims that the investigation will show it possible to reduce the cost of milk by one or two cents to the consumer, still pay more to the farmer.

OHIO'S FRUIT CROP IS REPORTED LIGHT

Another light apple crop, about half the size of last year's, and confined largely to commercial orchards, is reported by F. H. Beach, extension specialist in fruit growing for the Ohio State university.

Light bloom and frost injury in southern Ohio, and severe winter injury to many trees in northern Ohio, are responsible, fruit growers told Beach.

Baldwin is decidedly off this year. Rome Beauty shows the most consistent prospects, with many prospective full crops. Jonathan are yielding well in northern and central Ohio, but elsewhere the bloom was spotty or lacking. Condition of Delicious is similar, except that frost injury is reported in southern Ohio.

Stayman, light in southern parts of the state, is almost a full crop in many sections of the northern half. Grimes is spotty and light. McIntosh Soy and Greening are reported well set in northern parts of the state.

Summer apple varieties are bearing well in northern Ohio, only fair in central Ohio, and in the southern part of the state are found largely on high sites only.

All other tree fruits are light in the south, but in the northern portion of the state sour cherries promise a half crop, sweet cherries somewhat better, plums and pears very well, and grapes a fair to good crop.

All small fruit are light, and where drouth persists, are near failure.

Democratic Leaders Are Sore Over President's Delay of Adjournment

WASHINGTON—The President's quiet but emphatic refusal to cut short Congress was a bitter blow to Democratic Congressional leaders. He wanted to wind up but some of them wanted it even more.

They were all set to ring down the curtain June 9. This would have enabled them to dodge votes on the Wagner Labor Board Bill, oil control, and the housing program—all under heavy fire from business interests.

Some of the Administration floor leaders are privately opposed to these measures; but, if forced to a showdown, won't dare vote against them.

That showdown is now here.

Bad at Figures

Young men intending to become members of future Cabinets should be careful about their scholastic records. Their pasts will catch up with them.

Back in 1908, one of the members of Roosevelt's Cabinet was a youngster at Phillips-Exeter Academy and in danger of flunking math. Finally his father, a wealthy New Yorker, later to be an ambassador under Woodrow Wilson, came up to Exeter and argued with "Billy" Francis, professor of Mathematics.

Professor Francis found the father most delightful, but that didn't help his son. The latter, he said, was diligent, but dumb.

Finally the youngster passed, "though not because of any special influence," said Professor Francis. And one of the Merry-Go-Rounders, having had trigonometry pounded into him by the Professor, can vouch for his impartiality.

"He just squeaked through," said Francis, "but he got by on his own."

The youngster was Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury and the man who last week floated $800,000,000 of government bonds.

Naval Secretary Roosevelt

There is no truer axiom than that Franklin Roosevelt—no matter what happens—will be his own Secretary of the Navy. How true this is was illustrated last week.

Usually it is customary for the State Department to prepare for all naval negotiations with foreign countries. The Secretary of the Navy, assisted by his experts comes up to the State Department and sits in.

But when naval experts prepared to leave for London last week to discuss with the British and Japanese plans for the next naval conference, they went direct to the White House. After a talk with the President, they went back to the Navy Department.

The gaunt mountaineer from Tennessee, Secretary of State Hull, was not called in. Nor was the mustachioed Secretary of the Navy, Claude Augustus Swanson. In fact, the latter did not appear to know what had taken place.

Asked about the instructions Roosevelt had given the naval experts, he looked congenially blank. "How do we stand on global tonnage, Mr. Secretary?" he was asked.

"We're for it."

"Then how can we maintain our naval ratios?"

The reply, accompanied by banging on the desk, was:

"The present naval ratios must be maintained!"

At Last

For months New York's mild-mannered but tenacious Senator Bob Wagner has pushed, maneuvered, struggled to get action on his bill for Labor Board and for old age pensions. Probably no Senator has worked harder, with less success.

The other day the Senate passed a number of minor measures. One of these was a bill, sponsored by Wagner, reducing the standard of measure for mushrooms from a three to one pound basket.

POVENMIRE TO TAKE POSITION AT MANSFIELD

Popular High School Instructor's Resignation Presented to Board

"IN BIGGER FIELD"

Better Chance to Develop Dramatics Cited

Announcement was made Wednesday that E. Kingsley Povenmire, high school instructor during the past year, has resigned to accept a position in the Mansfield high school.

The board of education accepted Mr. Povenmire's resignation at its meeting Tuesday evening at the same time expressing regret that the popular instructor was leaving, but wishing him success in his new position.

Mr. Povenmire said Wednesday that salary had nothing to do with his decision to accept the Mansfield position. "In the Mansfield school," he declared, "there is an opportunity for a future in the teaching of dramatics and public speaking. The school, a million dollar building completed in 1927, has a fully-equipped theater used for nothing but school plays."

The Mansfield high school has 1,200 pupils.

TEACH DRAMATICS

At the outset of the school year Mr. Povenmire will teach dramatics, and public speaking with one class in English. At the beginning of the second semester the teacher expects dramatics and public speaking to be on a full time schedule.

"I greatly regret leaving Circleville," Mr. Povenmire said. "My connections here have been splendid ones and I have benefited greatly by my year in this city."

During this year here, which was abbreviated because of an emergency operation, Mr. Povenmire made a splendid record. He conducted some of the most successful plays presented here in years. His original story, "Buttered Side Down," was presented as the senior class play. Mr. Povenmire has not confined his talent to the class room, however, appearing several times before organizations and the public in readings. His rendition of "The Green Pastures" gained him a wide reputation as a reader and actor.

The board of education will have a difficult time obtaining a dramatics instructor as well qualified as Mr. Povenmire.

THREE VACANCIES

His resignation leaves three vacancies in the city's public school system. All other positions are filled in the high school but the grade assignments of Mrs. Avery Eichinger (Mildred Barthelme) and Mrs. Peter Bernard (Grace Steele) remain unfilled.

2 NEW DILLINGER REPORTS SCOUTED

Radio Reports Gunman Seen Near Cincinnati; Thought In Car in Minnesota.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—Two John Dillinger alarms broadcast in widely separated areas during the night proved false today leaving police still without a clue as to the whereabouts of the notorious gangster.

The alarm that Dillinger might have been in an Illinois car seen speeding through Cincinnati toward Springfield was broadcast by the state police radio system and almost at the same time a broadcast said the phantom gunman was seen near Red Wing, Minn.

State troopers here reported they had been unable to find any trace of the mysterious Illinois car. The automobile causing the alarm to be broadcast in Minnesota was stopped but it contained only a man who slightly resembled Dillinger.

LYNCHING HALTED

Son of Slain Woman Urged Angered Mob to "Let Law Take Its Course."

SUSANVILLE, Cal., June 13.—Lynch threats of an infuriated mob were dispelled today when the 22-year-old son of Mrs. Lena Ammisen, 42, one of the five victims of the mass murders in this lumber camp town, pleaded with mob leaders to "let the law take its course against Pietro Aloisi."

Aloisi, 43, mill worker, confessed to the murders. Fearing that the confession would incite the mob, District Attorney Grover Julian withheld announcement of it until young Peter Ammisen pacified the crowd of friends and Italian countrymen of the Ammisenis and Joseph Fazio, 45, grover, who was stabbed and hacked to death with his wife, daughter, and Mrs. Ammisen, a neighbor.

Standing at the door of the county jail, young Ammisen pleaded:

"Do not lynch him. The law will take its course. After several minutes the mob dispersed, grumbling to itself."

MOTHER OF 5 SERIOUSLY ILL IN CABIN HOME

Dr. Dafoe Summoned Hurdly By Nurses; Babies Gain Strength.

CALLANDER, Ont., June 13.—Mrs. Elzira Dionne, 25-year old mother of the 16-day old quintuplet daughters, was reported in a critical condition this morning.

Olivia Dionne, the stricken woman's husband, made a hurried trip to Dr. A. R. Dafoe's home to summon the physician to the desolate log cabin home. At the Dionne home, the nurses refused to discuss the condition of the young mother, but Olivier Dionne, the 68-year-old grandfather, said:

"The mother is sick. She has a bad fever and we are worried about her. She is very bad."

Dr. Dafoe was at the railroad station procuring milk for the babies when Dionne called at his home, but the physician was hurriedly notified of the mother's illness. He said he would issue a statement after examining Mrs. Dionne.

A distinguished visitor at the Dionne farm last night was Dr. John M. Robb, cabinet minister of health. Accompanied by Dr. Dafoe, the cabinet minister viewed the infant quintuplets and said he was highly pleased with their condition.

The infants are steadily gaining weight. All of the babies have discovered that luscious exhibitions of lung power bring immediate attention and food. At their 10 o'clock feeding last night the "Dionne chorus" was particularly loud.

The infants were fed more during the past 24 hours than at any similar period since they were born. Each was given nine ounces of warmed mother's milk sent from Toronto.

FOURTH JOINS COUNTY RACE FOR ASSEMBLY

A. H. Crownover, of Monroe-Twp., Obtains Petitions; Others File.

A fourth potential Democratic candidate for the nomination for representative in the general assembly was in the race today. He is A. H. Crownover, of Monroe-twp, home township of Nathan Behnert, retiring incumbent.

Mr. Crownover, a well known farmer and hog-raiser, obtained his petition from the board of elections Wednesday morning and immediately placed it in circulation in order to have it filed prior to the deadline Friday at 6:30 p. m.

3 OTHERS POSSIBLE

Ray W. Davis, unopposed either within his own Republican party or by a Democrat, has filed his petition for a second term as prosecuting attorney.

Leonard Schleich, Deer Creek-twp, has also filed his petition for county recorder on the Democratic ticket. ## 520 SEEKING AGE PENSIONS

Krinn Expects $13,700 To Be Used Here Beginning Aug. 1; Study Applicants.

Number of Pickaway-co applicants for old-age pensions passed the 500 mark Wednesday and employees in the county auditor's office were still busy interviewing applicants.

At noon today, 520 applications were on file.

T. D. Krinn, deputy auditor and supervisor of the pension administration for Pickaway-co, anticipates an allotment of $13,700 to be used for pensions beginning August 1 and extending through the remainder of the year.

All of the applications will be investigated and then passed on by the county commissioners, acting as the county pension board, and Mr. Krinn.

Every case in which investigations show the applicant to be worthy will be reported favorably, Mr. Krinn said. Amounts of the pensions may vary, depending on the nature of the case. The evidence furnished in the application blank will be weighed carefully.

The General Assembly has made an emergency appropriation to finance the pension division for five months, beginning August 1, but no provisions have been made for the months following January 1, 1935.

GOODS OR SERVICES TO PAY DEBT-HULL

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The United States today called Europe's bluff on its willingness to pay its debts to this country.

Secretary of State Hull, in a note to Great Britain, served notice on the debtor nations that this government was willing to consider payment of the ten billion owed American tax-payers in goods or services.

It was the first time this country has offered to accept payment of the debts in "kind," or goods and services.

Granville Man Has no Petition; Truax May Face Difficulties

M'CULLOCH 'OUTSIDE'

Candidates Begin Rush to Election Boards

Roscoe C. McCulloch, mentioned prominent by as a possible Republican candidate for governor, is out of the picture, he says.

Congressman Charles West, of Granville, reported favored by President Roosevelt for the U. S. Senate, has made no definite step toward the race.

John M. Vorys, Columbus attorney, enters contest for G. O. P. nomination for Senate against Fess and Wana-maker. Vorys is backed by David Ingalls and Robert Taft.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—While Charles Sawyer tossed his hat formally into the ring by filing his petition with 25,000 to 30,000 names for the Democratic nomination for governor, the political situation in Ohio today awaited only an announcement from Congressman Charles West to clarify itself.

West, professor of political economy at Denison University, almost overnight, become the "key man" in the mad scramble for public office.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—Former U. S. Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, convinced that his entry into an already crowded field of Republican candidates for governor, "would add to the confusion of the voter," today stepped out of the primary picture.

"Many local Republican friends doubtless will be disappointed by my decision," said McCulloch, "but the party is more important than any individual."

Without saying which candidate would receive his support in the primary, the former senator pledged himself to "reserve my strength to help win the Republican victory in November that is essential to the welfare of the state and nation."

A new face entered the Republican senatorial picture when Attorney John Vorys, Columbus, Ohio's first director of aeronautics, sent out petitions yesterday as a candidate following a conference with Davis S. Ingalls, G. O. P. candidate for governor in 1932 against White, and former State Senator Robert Taft.

CAPITAL EXCITED

As the deadline for filing declaration of candidates—6:30 p. m., Friday—drew nearer, the capital was still in a high pitch of excitement over developments in the Democratic senatorial situation.

Gov. George White stood pat on his declaration that he "will be nominated and elected" despite reports from Washington that President Roosevelt, fearing White could not defeat Republican Sen. Simeon D. Fess in the November election, if Fess is nominated as now appears, would welcome the governor's retirement from the primary contest.

Observers kept close check at the secretary of state's office to see whether Congressman Charles West, Granville Democrat, mentioned as the candidate the Roosevelt administration would like to see the Democrats nominate for the Senate, will enter the race.

They also eagerly awaited some word from Congressman-at-large Charles V. Truax, Bucyrus, who is circulating petitions both as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator and for re-nomination as congressman.

Truax, it was learned, may run into difficulties when he does decide which office he intends to seek. The report has reached the secretary of state's office that the congressman has sent out many petitions to be signed without indicating, as required by law, which office he wants.

PICKREL FILES

Thus far the nominating petitions of William G. Pickrel, Dayton, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, have contained the most signatures—30,000 from 88 counties. He filed them late yesterday.

Frank G. Harrison, Massillon Republican, filed 3,250 signatures from 51 counties to have his name placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for governor.

CROP OUTLOOK DECLINE SEEN

May Cost Ohio Farmers Near 20 Millions, Crop Reporter Declares.

COLUMBUS, June 13.—A rather sharp decline in crop prospects, which, it is estimated, may cost Ohio farmers approximately $20,000,000, was reported today by the state bureau of the Federal agriculture department.

Glenn S. Ray, chief of the federal crop reporting service, said that on June 1, farmers gave promise of 25,000,000 bushels compared with the 1933 average of 32,000,000 bushels.

The condition of the crop, he said, averaged only 80 per cent of normal as compared with a crop 84 per cent normal at the same period a year ago.

Winter wheat production in Ohio in 1933 was 34,732,000 bushels. At present market prices, farmers stand to lose a potential $8,000,000 as compared to last year.

Declines also were reported in crop expectations for rye, oats, pastures, apples, peaches, pears and cherries. There was no indication given how the decline would affect the canning industry.

"Peaches," Ray said, "suffered heavily from low winter temperatures." He estimated the crop this year at 12,000 bushels as compared to 155,000 bushels the year and 1,223,000 bushels for the five year average from 1927 to 1931.

He described pastures as "very poor and in places had little feed left in them."

Purcell and Barnes singled and Geph walked before Merriman and D. White popped to end the game. If the ball game was paid off on hits the Oils held a big margin. They touched Callahan for 14 safe bingles four of which were doubles and one a home run by Don White. Carl Purcell gave the Feeds men six.

hits only one of which was for an extra base.
The Feeds outplayed the Oils in the field to gain their advantage, six errors being scored by the Oils inner defense while only one was counted for the Feeds.

CUM ROBINSON'S MECCA team took Stoutsville to camp, 5-1, Tuesday evening in an exhibition contest—Tubby Vlerebome was on the mound for the winners—Manager Cummings started in the batting order knocking off a couple of nice hits—Cum is training the guns of his team on the Container Corporation the game scheduled for next week. ## WIN 45 TILTS? CARD HURLERS MAY DO TRICK

Jerome and Paul Dean on Way To Carry Out Boast; Paul Gets Seventh in Row.

NEW YORK, June 13.—A booster naturally puts himself forever on the spot. Braggarts who can make good on their boasts are few and far between in any line but more especially in sports. Probably no athletes ever put themselves on the spot as have the Deans, the famous Me and I brothers of the St. Louis Cardinals.

When the season opened these bashful boys calmly predicted they would win 45 games between them this year. That boast immediately stirred up every team in the league. Every pitcher determined to bear down particularly hard whenever he faced one of the Deans.

NEED 90 GAMES.
Forty-five between them eh? Why, twice that many would win the flag for the Cards. Where did that dizzy pair get off to think they could show up the rest of the league?

Well, as Al Smith used to say, let's take a look at the record. The Cardinals have won 30 games and of this number the dizzy Deans have accounted for exactly half between them.

Paul, the younger and less talkative of the pair, won his seventh straight yesterday when he took the Braves over, 7 to 3, aided and abetted no little by home runs from the clubs of Jim Collins and Pepper Martin. Paul is still undefeated.

The Cardinals have lost 18 games but only two of these are charged against the name Dean. Jerome lost those but he has won eight.

If the brothers Dean maintain their present pace, they will win more than the 45 games they promised to win.

Liquor Imports Drop
WASHINGTON—A notable decline in United States import trade in wines and liquors occurred in April. The total value of wines and liquors imported for consumption during April was $2,918,848 compared with $4,953,597 in March, a 40.5 percent drop.

NAVY SECRETS ARE FOUND IN VICTIM'S BAG

U. S. Probing Existence of Formulae Found After Seven Die in Plane.

LIBERTY, N. Y., June 13.—Federal authorities injected themselves into the seven-fold tragedy atop Dunmead mountain today, which probably will cause postponement of the inquest of the plane crash.

The federal men appeared on the scene shortly after it was discovered that William B. Bader of Buffalo, a chemist for the Summit Solvay company of New York, had naval papers containing secret formulae of the government in his possession. Bader was one of the four passengers and a crew of three who were killed when the American air liner crashed into the summit of Dunmead mountain Saturday night during a dense fog.

DOUBT BLAST THEORY.
Three vials containing a powder which Dr. Victor G. Bourke, coroner of Sullivan-co, believes may be explosives, also were found in Bader's luggage. Although it is strongly denied by American Air line officials and aviation experts, Bourke has advanced the theory that an explosive Bader was carrying may have blown the ship apart and that it was not wrecked by a crash into the mountainside.

"Developments of the last few hours may cause postponement of the inquest," Bourke announced this morning. "I am going into conference with District Attorney William Deckelman and federal agents immediately. I may have an important announcement after this conference."

"The papers found at the scene of the tragedy may be of tremendous importance. I have sent them to a local vault. I have also ordered a detail of state police under command of Sergeant Thomas Mangano to guard the scene of the tragedy so that no minute piece of evidence may be removed and also to search the mountainside for a portfolio which is missing and which I am sure Bader carried aboard the plane."

"This new development may be so startling as to make the crash of secondary importance." Bourke said that he had been told "by a reliable source" that the papers found in Bader's possession reveal secret formulae on high explosives of the United States navy. He said they also contain analyses from the United States department of mines.

"I have also been told," Bourke said, "that Bader's firm recently made large contracts with Belgium and possibly France for explosives."

"These papers may have been in Bader's possession legitimately and again they may not. That will have to be determined by the federal men. It may be necessary to postpone the inquest until they have had time to scan the papers."

Meanwhile, Bourke is having a chemical analysis made of the powder found in Bader's luggage.

Through the influence of Harry Clifton of the Cliftona theatre, arrangements were made today to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio visit the city on its extensive goodwill exhibition tour of the world.

The lavishly equipped studio on wheels, constructed by the great motion picture company at a staggering cost of $150,000, is scheduled to arrive here next Friday, June 15, and according to present plans, will be open for public inspection from 1:30 until 3:00 o'clock in front of the Cliftona theatre, the home here of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

The studio, which has traveled across the continent from the famous M-G-M studios at Culver City, California, has aboard it more than $80,000 worth of costly and intricate sound motion picture recording and projecting equipment. It is a completely equipped Hollywood studio on wheels, capable of taking and recording sound pictures, as well as projecting them on the screen.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, and a complete staff of camera, soundmen, electricians, and movie makeup experts compose the personnel of the outfit, but it is not known as yet whether any motion pictures will be filmed in this city during its visit here.

Its brief stop-over here is being regarded purely as one to permit film fans of this city to inspect the magnificent outfit, to learn how talking pictures are filmed and recorded and projected, and the motion picture technicians with the studio will be available to answer questions regarding their work while the studio is here, it is said.

Featured in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer World Tour Caravan, which is scheduled in Circleville, Friday, June 15th at 1:30 P. M., will be one of the 87 seven stock Studebakers which performed so spectacularly in the Indianapolis Race last Monday Day. The car, which was driven to seventh place in the Hoosier classic, is one of seven Studebakers which finished among the first twelve at Indianapolis. While in this city it will be piloted by David R. Osborne, Jr.

STUDEBAKERS ARE SOLD IN CIRCLEVILLE BY G. L. SCHIEAR, 155 WATT ST., PHONE 700.

During the year 1933, over 100,000 dairymen used T. N. T. Fly Spray and gave it their stamp of approval. Since then it has been improved, subjected to actual tests on the farm and the manufacturers found that it killed flies better than before. It repels flies for hours after each spraying, does not taint the milk and is economical to use. Use it once and you will use nothing else.

Ashville Making Plans For Great Celebration

ASHVILLE, June 13.—A late start by the Community Club in arranging for the Independence day celebration is being overcome by the activities of the different committees, as evidenced by the progress reported at the meeting last Friday night.

The lunch committee contracted with Ed Durthaler, of Columbus, to furnish and fry 800 pounds of fresh fish if needed for the day's eats.

Clyde Brinker for the concessions committee, of which A. B. Cooper is also a member, reported that Montana Meechy and his troupe of nine cowboy musicians was open for engagement and suggested he could be used to furnish music for the dance during the afternoon and night. Also he agreed to broadcast Ashville's Fourth over WATU during the month—in fact he has already started that service. The club voted to accept his terms. Meechy is no stranger to Ashville crowds having been here several years ago, and while this free attraction will cost a considerable sum it should prove a drawing card.

HOYLE OBTAINED
Among the other free acts Mr. Brinker reported closing a contract with Mr. Hoyle, of Columbus, for a high dive from an 80 foot ladder into a net. He will bring with him four young ladies, who are acrobats and high wire artists.

We also have the promise of several rides, merry-go-rounds, the delight of the youngsters as well as grownups.

An advertising campaign greater than ever before attempted is being planned. Montana Meechy on the air from WATU station is daily broadcasting the event; posters, handbills and stickers are being printed, and best of all we have the assurance of Fred J. Hines, director of the band, that his organization in company with members of the Community club will tour the county and carry the message of a good time at Ashville July 4 with good music and speeches by local boosters.

We promise a full day and part night program of entertainment, beginning with a bigger and better street parade, featuring many clean attractions with plenty of music during the day by the local band and Meechy's cowboys and ending with a spectacular pyrotechnic display at night.

In the past five years we have never had an accident at these exercises which have been attended by thousands. A police force will carefully look after your safety while our guests.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, you need to get some Little Liver Pills. They contain wonderful, natural water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Our bile acts up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get them two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, natural water, oil, laxative candy, chewing gum, and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Present a subscription tag at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

After he left her Stanley moved quietly about the room putting away the tea things, emptying ash trays, fixing a tray for Valerie. She made a salad, started some coffee.

She felt curiously numb and emotionless and the events of the afternoon ran through her tired mind with a strangely detached vividness. Drew had been there. He held her in his arms, kissed her mouth. Perry had come in and she had made Drew appear ridiculous and he had gone away. He had gone away and she had not wanted him to go away. And John Harmon didn't matter at all. It was as if there had never been such a person as John Harmon. And over and above everything else there was a curiously definite feeling of finality.

She had come to the end—from now on she would go on alone. There was no place in her life for Drew—what he had to give her she was utterly incapable of accepting. There was no place for John Harmon—what he had to give her she no longer wanted. For over a year she had been bruised and tormented, caressed and soothed, by love. She had approached the heights, gone down into the depths with Drew. Risen again to fertile valleys with John Harmon. Now she found herself alone on a barren plateau—bereft of delight, of grief, of torment, of desire—conscious only of an all-enveloping sense of futility and loneliness.

As she moved about, straightening the room, preparing supper, her thoughts tumbled over one another, came and went quickly, a jumble of confused and unconnected impressions. She had cried when John Harmon went away; it seemed strange now that his going had mattered so much. Perry had been terribly upset because she no longer loved John Harmon; she couldn't make it seem important. Nothing any longer had any importance. She felt very tired and very empty—like the shells you picked up on the beach—washed clean of everything, smooth and hard and empty.

Two weeks and three days later—and weather as freakish and unreasonable as Christmas on the Fourth of July.

It was very hot in the room—and very still. Dust lay in little silver sheens on the tops of the tables, sunlight drifted in about the edges of the drawn shades; slid in narrow golden ribbons across the painted floor. The clock ticked evenly, monotonously on the mantle, in the bathroom a carelessly turned faucet dripped languidly, on the floor above someone was doing things with a vacuum cleaner—noisy, energetic, useless things.

Stanley turned over onto her right side and stared at the ribbon of sunlight that was creeping across the floor—it had nearly reached the bed. That meant that in a little while now Valerie would come home. It meant that another day was nearly over. It meant that in another hour the sun would go down and it would be cooler; not much cooler but a little.

Two weeks of days like this—hot, bright, still days that seemed to have skipped ahead and slid into May quite by mistake. Two weeks and three days since that afternoon that the rain had come down in silver sheets against the window-panes and a fire had burned slowly on the hearth and Drew had come—and gone away again. This time, forever. Two weeks and three days in which her body had moved about but her soul had stood still, days of dragging, physical weariness and that subtler, more torturous agony which is purely mental and much more crucifying.

She had said nothing to Valerie of what had happened that afternoon; she felt that she never would be able to discuss it with anyone, ever again. Any more than she would ever be able to forget it—and that she would never forget it she was quite sure.

She thought that if the pain in her head would only stop, and that rather frightening faintness leave her, she would go up and do things—just the tables and pour water and wash the pile of pink china that was stacked behind the closed doors of the kitchenette. She thought that she would take a bath and shampoo her hair and ice some tea and make some very thin cream cheese and a spiced ginger sandwich. But she didn't. She only flung her slim body about so that she faced the wall and pushed her hair away from her hot forehead and wished that Valerie would come home and talk to her and make things seem real, once more, and less like a slow-moving, bad dream—and then for a little while she slept, and so escaped the dream.

She slept lightly, restlessly, her arms flung up above her head, her face turned away from the straggling sunlight, her lips slightly parted, her lashes lying heavy, like dark shadows, on her white cheeks.

When Valerie came in an hour later, she awakened, sat up and smiled wearily. "Sorry, Val," she apologized contritely. "I meant to have supper ready for you."

Valerie tossed her hat aside, peeled off her dark dress and flung it in a damp little heap beside the hat. "Headache, again?" she asked, her eyes sympathetic.

"Terribly. I feel a wreck, Val."

"Did you see a doctor?"

"No, it's just this darned weather. I'll be all right, once it changes—gets cooler."

"I'm not sure about that," Val spoke sharply. "Why don't you get out of town for a couple of weeks—go away somewhere?"

Stanley stared at her silently for a moment, then slid back onto her pillow and closed her eyes as if further discussion was too much of an effort.

In the briefest of underthings, Valerie stood and considered her with soberly speculative eyes; then she lifted her shoulders slightly, scowled, and went into the bathroom.

Stanley heard her running a tub of water—it sounded cool and cheerful and nicely comforting. She decided that she would surely get up and take a bath herself as soon as Valerie finished with the bath. She was glad Val was home—

—it was much better than being alone. She did not even mind answering the questions Val would be sure to ask—had she eaten anything? Did she like this or that for supper? Wouldn't she please see a doctor?

But as it happened Val did not ask her any of these questions. She came out of the bathroom in a few minutes and curled up in the wing chair, in the thinnest of scarlet pajamas, lit a cigarette and said to Stanley, quite casually and matter-of-factly: "You aren't any chance going to have a baby, are you Stan?"

Stanley opened her eyes swiftly. "What?" she asked, her voice quite flat and toneless.

"—because if you are, you ought to see a doctor."

"But—I can't be. I've never even thought of that!" Her voice rose now on a thin little note, she sat up abruptly, flung her hands about her knees, stared at Valerie with wide disbelieving eyes.

Valerie shrugged. "You wouldn't, I suppose. But I would. I imagine I've seen more of that sort of thing than you have. I've been all most sure about you for a week. I thought you knew and didn't want to talk about it—but I had to be sure."

"No," said Stanley slowly, her eyes still incredulous, "I expect I'm an awful fool, Val, not to have thought of it. But you see, we decided about that at the very first—decided we wouldn't have a baby—well, not for a long time, anyway. And then—well, then, I suppose I just stopped thinking about it."

Valerie lifted her eyebrows a bit. "One does imagine—until all of a sudden—it happens."

"But, Val, it mustn't happen to me—not now." Suddenly, Stanley was trembling all over. She thrust the words at Valerie jerkily, her lips stiff and shaking. "I can't have a baby, now. I haven't told you before, but when John Harmon comes back I'm not going to live with him anymore. Our marriage is over—finished—as if it had never been! You see now, don't you, that I can't possibly be going to have a baby?"

Valerie sighed a bit, flung her cigarette away abruptly. "I don't know what you're talking about, Stanley, all this nonsense about leaving John Harmon. All I know is that you did marry him, and you did live with him—and because you did you are going to have a baby. But at least, you'll have to do something about it."

"Yes," said Stanley slowly, after a long time, in which she had sat quite still and stared at Valerie and did not see her at all, "I suppose I shall."

She closed her eyes then and waited for the swinging, red mist to go away. Her heart was behaving strangely and she was breathing rapidly, painfully. But gradually the mist went away and she could breathe quite easily again.

And certain things became clear to her—cruelly clear. She was going to have a baby. She knew quite suddenly that this was so, that Valerie was right. She wondered a little derisively why she had not thought of it herself; realized that never once in all the months she had been married had she thought about it at all. She wondered if John Harmon had thought about it—decided that he very probably had—he was like that—he thought about a great many things.

And now, for an interval, lying very still with her eyes closed, she thought about him; little inconsequential things—the way his hair grew thick and brown and ruffled like a very little boy's, the trick his eyes had of smiling suddenly and inkling at the corners, the habit his tie had of sliding around beneath his ear when he was completely absorbed. She thought that it seemed a long, long time ago that she had lived with him in this room; that it seemed a long, long time before she would have to see him again—and tell him things. Not about the baby—he would never have to know about that. She was glad he wouldn't, because she felt, some way, that he would care. And she didn't want him to care any more than he had to—she thought that if she could, she would gladly save him from caring at all—then she remembered suddenly that people who had babies sometimes died. Her heart stood still for a brief, deliberating second—that would settle everything with a sort of nice precision. She would die and leave John Harmon his baby and he would never need to know—anything. Then she breathed again—and dismissed the idea as absurd. She might not die at all—most women didn't. In which case things would be much worse than they were now. Besides, she didn't want to die—even as she didn't want to live, she wanted to die even less. No, she would simply go and see a doctor. And only in that brief moment in which she saw herself dying and making John Harmon a gift of their child, did she accept the possibility that there might ever be a baby.

Heed Warning of Trouble

A common cause of dizziness is a strange disturbance known as "Meniere's disease." The semi-circular canals are disturbed and a sensation of dizziness occurs. In addition, the sufferer complains of loss of hearing and ringing in the ears.

Of course, not all cases of dizziness are due to Meniere's disease. Simple inflammation of the ear, especially chronic catarrh of the ear, often leads to symptoms like those found in Meniere's disease. As I have implied, high blood pressure may cause a similar disturbance.

Too often the sufferer from dizziness overlooks nature's warning and only consults the physician after permanent damage has been done. This made less difference years ago because little was known concerning this chronic distressing affliction. But it is different now.

A recent report tells of a new means of relief from the effects of this disease. A minor operation is proposed. In this operation the nerve leading to the afflicted semi-circular canals is removed. The hearing is not improved but the dizziness and other distressing symptoms are relieved.

Early Care Essential

If you have any complaint of the ear, such as deafness, pain, ringing in the ear, or dizziness, I would advise that you immediately consult your physician. Bear in mind that early recognition of disturbances of the ear and proper care at that time mean prompt and complete cure of most ailments of that organ.

Deafness is a serious handicap. Every means should be taken to prevent its occurrence. Proper hygiene, diet, simple health regulations and periodic visits to the doctor, would greatly lessen the number of cases of deafness and the various ear disorders.

PATTERN 9052

The design for a sheer fabric must be something more than just a nice looking gown. It must have plenty of material in it. The least suggestion of skimpiness is simply fatal to the success of a frock of this kind. This is one reason why this model is such a good choice for chiffon or voile. Of course, that is only one reason—others are that it is vastly becoming and extremely flattering to its wearer. The cape, with its nick in the back, is a clever, slenderizing contrivance—and the point that tops the front panel likewise.

Pattern 9052 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Send FIFTY CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

A beautiful, complete collection of Summer Clothes is shown in the NEW SUMMER EDITION of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK. This book will help you plan a stunning vacation wardrobe. Clever beach ensembles, charming costumes for the garden, style suggestions for the Summer bride and her attendants and sun suits for children.

Facts About Meniere's Disease

This Disturbance of Inner Ear Cause of Those Dizzy Spells

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

DIZZINESS IS not a disease, but is a sign of some disorder within the body. I am often asked what causes it. It may be the result of high blood pressure, low blood pressure, or some constitutional ailment. As a rule, it can be traced to a disturbance of the semi-circular canals of the ear.

The semi-circular canals are contained within the bony structure where is located the internal ear. The canals lie in different planes, the thin fluid within them moving with the changing positions of the head. This fluid acts as a spirit level and gives the sensation of balance. The semi-circular canals are concerned with the function of equilibrium.

Heed Warning of Trouble

A common cause of dizziness is a strange disturbance known as "Meniere's disease." The semi-circular canals are disturbed and a sensation of dizziness occurs. In addition, the sufferer complains of loss of hearing and ringing in the ears.

Of course, not all cases of dizziness are due to Meniere's disease. Simple inflammation of the ear, especially chronic catarrh of the ear, often leads to symptoms like those found in Meniere's disease. As I have implied, high blood pressure may cause a similar disturbance.

Too often the sufferer from dizziness overlooks nature's warning and only consults the physician after permanent damage has been done. This made less difference years ago because little was known concerning this chronic distressing affliction. But it is different now.

A recent report tells of a new means of relief from the effects of this disease. A minor operation is proposed. In this operation the nerve leading to the afflicted semi-circular canals is removed. The hearing is not improved but the dizziness and other distressing symptoms are relieved.

Early Care Essential

If you have any complaint of the ear, such as deafness, pain, ringing in the ear, or dizziness, I would advise that you immediately consult your physician. Bear in mind that early recognition of disturbances of the ear and proper care at that time mean prompt and complete cure of most ailments of that organ.

Deafness is a serious handicap. Every means should be taken to prevent its occurrence. Proper hygiene, diet, simple health regulations and periodic visits to the doctor, would greatly lessen the number of cases of deafness and the various ear disorders.

BATTLE RODENTS

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Stockmen and farmers in 34 Colorado counties have used more than eight and one-half tons of poisoned oats this year in destroying prairie dogs, ground squirrels and other destructive rodents. The lethal grain, mixed according to a formula known as Colorado No. 46, is distributed by the State Agricultural College at cost.

PATTERN 9052

The design for a sheer fabric must be something more than just a nice looking gown. It must have plenty of material in it. The least suggestion of skimpiness is simply fatal to the success of a frock of this kind. This is one reason why this model is such a good choice for chiffon or voile. Of course, that is only one reason—others are that it is vastly becoming and extremely flattering to its wearer. The cape, with its nick in the back, is a clever, slenderizing contrivance—and the point that tops the front panel likewise.

Pattern 9052 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 24, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. Send FIFTY CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Milk Hold Up

The investigation of milk—probably one of the most important Congress has ever contemplated—has been delayed for weeks by the idiosyncrasy of Senator Smith of South Carolina.

Reason: The Senate Resolution ordering the milk investigation has been before Smith's Agricultural Committee, and Smith would not call a meeting of his committee for fear he would be outvoted on the move to promote Professor Rex Tugwell to be Under-Secretary of Agriculture.

Now that the Tugwell matter has been taken from the committee by the Senate, there is a chance the milk investigation will come up in committee. Thanks to the leadership of hard-hitting Representative Sisson, the House had passed the resolution and appropriated $60,000 for the expense of the investigation.

Opposed to the resolution were representatives of the dairymen—Roy Pike of the milk cooperatives and Fred H. Saxauer of the Dairyman's League. At first thought this seems strange, but the milk cooperatives are hooked up with the distributor not the milk producer.

It is the distribution of milk that the investigation intends to hit. Congressman Sisson, who comes from New York State's dairying regions, claims that the investigation will show it possible to reduce the cost of milk by one or two cents to the consumer, still pay more to the farmer.

Merry-go-Round

Young General Nye, chief Senatorial munitions-hunter, has headed into the Lion's mouth last week by making a speech at Dupont-dominated Longwood, Delaware. He issued a challenge to the munitions industry.

Tyrant Trujillo of Santo Domingo appears to be preparing for an evacuation of the Presidency. He has all his family to New York.

On the day after their arrival, a mass was celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral to give thanks for their safe journey.

The Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms seem to have given up all hope of ousting Senator Cutting from political control of New Mexico. They have gone to Europe.

A recent poll of young people conducted by Viola Ilma, Youth Movement idealist, shows they are really united on only one thing—opposition to war.

The ousting of Bill Vare as boss of Philadelphia's grimy "Palace Revolution" is just another crowd will still be in the saddle. They merely got tired of Vare, who had lost his grip on things, and decided to get in a new boss.

OHIO'S FRUIT CROP IS REPORTED LIGHT

Another light apple crop, about half the size of last year's, and confined largely to commercial orchards, is reported by F. H. Bosch, extension specialist in fruit growing for the Ohio State University.

Light bloom and frost injury in southern Ohio, and severe winter injury to many trees in northeastern Ohio, are responsible, fruit growers told Bosch.

Bakwin is decidedly off this year. Rome Beauty shows the most consistent prospects, with many prospective full crops. Jonathan are yielding well in northern and central Ohio, but elsewhere the bloom was spotty or lacking. Condition of Delicious is similar, except that frost injury is reported in southern Ohio.

Stayman, light in southern parts of the state, is almost a full crop in many sections of the northern half. Grimes is spotty and light. McIntosh, Snv and Greening are reported well set in northern parts of the state.

Summer apple varieties are bearing well in northern Ohio, only fair in central Ohio, and in the southern part of the state are found largely on high sites only.

All other tree fruits are light in the south, but in the northern portion of the state sour cherries promise a half crop, sweet cherries somewhat better, plums and pears very well, and grapes a fair to good crop.

All small fruit are light, and where drouth persists, are near failure.
